

Logic Model

SPORT is based on the Behavior-Image Model (BIM). BIM is a planning framework illustrated by the following logic model. This model shows the relations among image-based intervention components and content and both mediating outcomes, including self-regulation skills, and multiple behavioral health outcomes.

